AMUSEMENTS NEXT WEEK. Ford's Grand Opera House.—At Ford's Grand Opera House during the week will be presented the supernatural wonder "She." the gorgeous creature who preserved her beauty 3,000 years. This play is remarkable for the originality of its plot, the realistic grandeur of its scenery, and the excellence of the company. It has played in all the important cities to a succession of large audiences, and gave great satisfaction. The audiences are spell-bound by the intensity of its action, the splendor of its ituations, and the exciting and thrilling events which follow each other so closely. Among the best of Goatcher's scenic efforts will be seen the Wreck of the Arab Dhow," the "Head of the Ethiopian," the "Amhaggar's Cave," the "Dance of the Hot Pot," the "Palace of She," the "Chasm of he Rocking Stone," and the wild and supernatural "Cave of the Fire of Life." The Board then adjourned to meet on call. The Name Old Game .- On Wednesday after noon, 2d inst., as Mr. David Miller was on his way the 8-Mile House, he found two plausible strangers, one in a puggy and the other out, who manipu lated some little boxes with the corner of a note sticking out, and showed him $35 in the box. Mr. Miller was induced to put up $35 against the trick and what purported to be a very fine-looking gold watch, and, as usual, picked out the box minus the money, but received the watch. Not being satisfied with it one of the men said he was to have a watch sale in Towson on Monday night and he could return the watch if it did not suit and get his money back, less the 10 per cent, for commission on sales.

As Mr. Miller did not deem himself capable of coping with the two men physically he let them go, and then came to Towson where the matter was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Wm. M. Ris-teau, who at once went to Baltimore in search o the schemers. The two men had been seen in Tow-son some hours before the swindle was accom-plished.
